The News of Saturday.
THE MEETING AT THE EXCHANGE.

A full report of a large and influential meeting of New York merchants and shipowners, held on Saturday in the Exchange, appeared in yesterday's HERALD. The meeting was called in consequence of the bill "to regulate the carriage of passengers by steamships and other ressels," prepared by the Treasury Department, to be medy defects in the existing laws on the subject having been arrested in its progress by the absence of Second ing been arrested in its progress by the absence of Sena-for Fish from Washington—that gentleman having re-quested that the matter should not be acted upon except in his presence. Speeches were made by Messrs Brinnell, Tileston and Mortimer Livingston, and reso futions were passed imperatively demanding the passage of the bill in question, to remedy recognized defects in the law, and to protect the merchants and shipowners of she commercial ports of the whole country from oppres-sive and versatious litigation and ruinous embarrassment in the employment of their vessels. severely handled by the speakers for his duplicity towards the Committee of New York merchants, who lately went from this city to Washington for the purpose of securing his services in the matter. The following are the resolutions passed at the meeting:

Whereas, it appears by the proceedings of the Senate of the United States, that the bill "To regulate the carrage of passengers by steamships and other vessels," prepared by the Treasury Department, to remedy defects in the existing laws on the subject, from which so much embarrasement has been caused to the shipping interests of the whole country, after being reported unanimously by the Committee of Commerce of the Senate, was arrested in its passage by a deference to the expressed wishes of Senator Fish, as stated in his behalf. And, whereas, the provisions of this bill are acceptable to the commercial and shipping interests of the country, as a remedy of existing defects in the law, and as such, have also received the unanimous approval of the Committee of Commerce in the Senate and House of Representatives, and contains no provision inconsistent with the bill on the subject as reported by Senator Fish, thurself, and the passage of the bill before the rising of Congress is imperatively demanded by the exigencies of the case. And whereas, the only obstacle to its passage in understood to arise from the wish of Senator Fish, that the subject should not be acted upon in his absence unless the law include novel provisions satisfactory to him; and we understand that his absence is to continue for the remainder of the present sension of Congress.

Resolved, That the passage of the bill "To regulate the carriage of passengers by steamships and other vassels," as prepared by the Tensury Department, and manimously approved by the Committees of Commerce of both houses of Congress. is imperatively demanded to remedy recognized defects of the law, and to product the merchants and shipowners of the commercial ports of the whole country from oppressive and vexations litig

THE NEW FIRE ANNIHILATOR.

A minute description was given of the trial of a new steam fire engine, in the Park, on Saturday morning, be fore an immense concourse of people. For throwing a continuous heavy stream of water, this new engine surpasses all others. There was but one opinion expressed as to the complete success of the new application of as to the complete success of the new application of steam. The committee appointed by both branches of the Common Council, the Chief Engineer (Affred Carson)' Assistant Engineers Cregier, Zojhar Mills, Affred E. Ba-ker, Fire Marshal, and a number of other gentlemen whose opinious are entitled to great weight, expressed themselves highly gratified with the result of the ex-PUBLIC AND PRIVATE BENEVOLENT INSTITUTIONS.

rday's Herald contained an interesting and in structive account of some of the public and private institutions of the country, detailing what they have done during the past year. There was a description of the private Institution for the Education of Idiets, Imbeciles, Backward and Eccentric Children, in Parre, Mass.; an account of a visit to the State School for Idiots-of the Society for the Reformation of Juve nile Delinquents, and of the State Lunatic Asylum.

LEGAL ITEMS.
Intelligence was published in yesterday's paper that the six judges of the Superior Court had unanimously decided to grant a new trial to the proprietor of the Hz RALD in the case of Fry against Bennett, in which excess sive and extraordinary damages were awarded the plain tiff for a nussical criticism on the management or mis-management of the Italian opera in 1848-49. A full re-port of the opinions of their Honors is given elsewhere. A full report was also given of the proceedings in the Marine Court with respect to the alleged contempt of that tribunal in Thursday's Daily Times. The matter

The document was well drawn up, and gave some hard knocks to the real estate capitalists, with a reply to the cry of the labor market being overstocked by foreign emigrants. We published the "Review" yesterday. CITY NEWS.

The city intelligence was plentiful. There was an amus-lag account of a Turkish Kahvés in Broadway where Yankees may sit down, smoothe their beards, and smoke their narghiles or ahibouks. There was the usual quantum of religious, marine, commer cial, police, personal and theatrical intelligence —a synopsia of the official reports of deaths for the week previous, amounting to $50; coroner's inquests the complaints in the Mayor's book; New York, Jersey, Williamsburg, and Brooklyn items of city news, and several letters from the people on topics of current in-terest. There were also four editorial articles, and four teen columns of new advertisements. CONGRESSIONAL.

There was little of interest from Washington. In the Senate, Mr. Jones of Tennessee, offered a resolution at firming that States only have power to pass laws admit-ting or excluding foreign emigrants. The bill to extend credits for cuties on imported railroad iron was taken up. An amendment was offered and carried, requiring railroad companies availing themselves of the ext of three years' credit to give good security for the pay ment of duties at maturity, and compelling them to file an obligation to carry the mails at prices stipulated by the government. In the House, the consideration of the Ocean Mail Appropriation bill was resumed. The amend ment relative to and in favor of the Collins steamers was adopted.—100 to 83. The appropriation proposed at the last session for the ocean mail service was also adopted, and the bill passed. The President's voto message of the French Spoliation bill was received and read. We gave a brief synopsis of it yesterday under the Congressiona

STATE LEGISLATURE.

At Albany the bill providing for the appointment of Commissioners for the Preservation of the Harbor of New York was passed in the Senate. The bill providing for taking the census of the State was taken up in com mittee. The amendment giving the Secretary of State power to appoint marshals to take the census, instead of allowing the common councils of cities, the supervisors and clerks of towns to make the appointments, as originally provided for in the bill, gave rise to a spirite i stebate, and was finally adopted by one majority. In the Assembly Mr. Coleman introduced a bill increasing The number of harbor masters to seventeen. Mr. Water Bury, of Westchester, introduced a bill providing for the election of a Chief of Police for this city. Mr. Sturtevant Effered a resolution requesting our delegation in Congress So urge either the restoration of the Missouri Compromise repeal of the Fugitive Slave act. A joint resolu Aion to take a recess from February 26 to March 5, and. whit New York, in accordance with the invitation of the Admshouse Governors, was adopted.

The period recently fixed for the duration of travelling passports for the interior had been curtained from three months to fifteen days, and several other arrests have been made. In addition to those already days, and several other arrests have been made. In addition to those already mentioned, we learnt from our own letters and from private sources of information, that Senors Cintra, José Gener, Benigno Gener, José Oviedo, and Francisco de la García, had been thrown into prison. Senor Cintra is the first lawyer, and Senor Oviedo is one of the richest men in Cuba, being worth at least a million of dollars. The others are also leading men. The report concerning the arrest of the Governers of Matanzas, Puerto Principe and Trinidad turns out to be unfounded. We were informed, on the other hand, that the Senores Galliano and Mejanietta, both Oidors of the Real Audiencia, had been destituted of their offices. Senor Aldama, one of the wealthiest men in Havana, had been exiled from the island.

From Venezuela, our correspondent, writing on the 19th of January, fornished an interesting review of the commercial and political affairs of that republic on the inauguration of General Jose Taces Monagas to the Pre-sidency for a constitutional term of four years. Owing to the deteriorating influences of the evil advices of the counsellors of his brother, Gregorio Monagas, and the continual dread of a Paez revolution, great confusion existed, and sales were effected with much difficulty and at very long credit. alms of the movement in which those associations are understood to be co-operating. This was to the effect that the one (the League) was purely a philanthropic association, designed to aid emigration to Kansas, through reduced fares and superintendence, en route to the promised land, by agents of the association. It depended solely on the voluntary contributions of the friends of free soil and free men in Kansas. The other was a joint stock association, which promised pecuniary benefit to the membership. A city, called "Council City," had been located and divided into lots. The shares bad been rated at five dollars each, entitling the holder to a lot. Great care had been taken to select the best of sites for the new city, whose location was on the great Santa Fe road, and therefore, in the opinion of all who had inspected it, the best point for trade in the Territory. Mr. Dwight made further statements, and read from a letter just received from an agent at the new city, to show that the region was salubrious and remarkably healthy, while the soil was kindly and fruitful. He concluded by introducing J. Williamson, of New Jersey, a gentleman who had no connection with their company, he remarked, but who had just returned from Kansas.

Mr. WILLIAMSON then addressed the meeting, confirming what Mr. Dwight had stated.

The next speaker was Dr. J. E. Acquittal of the Farleys on the Charge of Munical.

—The trial of Michael Farley and his wife, which has been proceeding in the Kings County Court of Oyer and Terminer since Wednesday, was concluded on Saturday afternoon. The deferdants, as previously stated, were indicted for the murder of Joanna Darbey, an old woman who boarded at their house, as alleged, for the purpose of obtaining some money, which it was supposed she was possessed of. As charged in the indictment, they administered poison to her in gruel or medicine, which was the cause of her death. The prisocres had been tried on the same indictment at previous term of the Court, and the evidence being of an entirely circumstantial character, the jury were unable to agree and were circharged, On this, the second trial, the principal witness on they part of the prosecution was absent, while the defence atrengthened themselves by the introduction of another witness, who impeached a portion of the testimony previously given by one of the people's witnesses. The presiding judge charged the jury about 3 o'clock, and after an absence of but a few minutes they brought in a verdict of not guilty.

ion of the New York Free Academy was held last exhibition of the New York Free Academy was held last Friday evening, in the chapel of the academy, corner of Twesty-Third street and Lexington avenue. A densely packed and somewhat noisy audience was in attendance, a number of whom were young boys, who made too free a use of their hands and feet in applauding their favorite speakers, during the continuance of the exercises, to be agreeable to the rest of the audience. Dodworth's band was in attendance and played some excellent pices of music during the evening. After a prayer from Rev. Dr. Burchard, the exercises proceded in the following order:

order:

1. Latin oration, delivered by Arthur McMullen.

2. An oration on the public works of America, by Samuel Maxwell.

3. A dissertation on lost arts, by John Hows.

4. An oration by Wells T. Hanning, having for its title "Success, the Criterion of Merit."

6.—A dissertation entitled "The Human Passions, as Illustrated in History," by Everett P. Wheeler.

6.—An oration on "England's Reform and England's Future," by Charles H. Fratt.

7.—An oration on the "Geometry of Nature," by J. Lyman Van Buren.

8.—"The People's Art" formed the subject of a dissertation by Russell Sturgis, Jr., and

9.—An oration, by Franklin S. Rising, on the subject "Christianity essential to true Liberty."

The speakers, as a general thing, acquitted themselves very acceptably to the audience, although they labored under the disadvantage of speaking in a hall unfitted for oratorical display, being long and narrow and built in the disregard to the most obvious accoustic principles. After the exercises were concluded, a benediction was pronounced and the large assemblage dispersed.

He roomed on the night of his arrival with another young sailor named Johnson, and they retired at an early hour. About midnight of his arrival with another young sailor named Jehnson, and they retired at an early hour. About midnight Johnson was awakened by a noise in the room, and on looking about he saw what he supposed to be the figure of a man gliding across the floor. He asked who was there, when the form retreated has tilly through the door. Fearing that all was not right, he took a loaded pistol from his pocket, cocked it and placed it under his pillow, and again lay down without awaxing his room mate. In about an hour afterwards, by the faint light of a win low at the foot of the bed, he saw the shadow of the figure again approaching, and presently an audible foot-fall was heard. Johnson grasped his pistol, and on raising his head saw that there were two persons in the room, both of whom were making towards Wilkingson's bed, which, on reaching, one of them selved the sleeping man by the thrust, while the other attempted to wrest from him his money belt, secured about his waist. Johnson was for a moment stupfied, but presently recovering himself, took good aim and fired. A cry of agony from one of the burglars told that the shot had taken effect, and before Johnson could spring upon them, they had field from 'the room. Wilkingson was nearly sufficated, but revived after a time. Near him, on the floor, were found drops of blood, and his money belt, with its contents still untouched. The burglars made good their escape, and have not been as yet arrested. To what extent the shot took effect is unknown.

THE LATE ALLEGED MALPRACTICS CASE.—We have re ceived two communications from the parties alleged to have been implicated in this case—one from Dr. Longrigg, complaining of the report of the coroner's inquest upon the occasion, and another from Dr. Bibbing, of the Dispensary, avowing his entire innocence of any neglect on his part, or those connected with the institution of which he is a member. We cannot imagine why it is that these gentlemen should address their communications to us, for the report published was one obtained from an official source; and if any wrong exists against Messra. Longrigg and Bibbing, they should look to Coroner O'Donnell, or the jury, for explanation or retraction. The verdict of the jury alone covers their entire case; we could not alter it, and of course, as a matter of great interest to the community, we were obliged to publish it intact. In view of these facts, we cannot enter any further into the matter considering it solely a question of right or wrong between Coroner O'Donnell and Messrs. Longrigg and Babbing.

FIRE COMPANIES RUNNING ON THE STORWALES.—The police captains report that on Saturday evening, at an alarm of fire in the upper part of the city, a number of fire engine companies left the middle of the street on account of the mud, and ran their machines on the sidewalks, in violation of the city ordinance. The following companies were reported:—Hose Company No. 34, the tender No. 44, Hook and Ladder Company No. 5, Engine Company No. 41. A boy and a man were knocked down by one of the machines, and the first severely injured. Although these companies may have some justification for not desiring to keep to the streets while they are in their present fifthy condition, their conduct in running on the sidewalk, to the great danger of pedestrians, and in violation of the city ordinances, cannot be too severely reproduced. However much the manhers of these companies may desire to preserve the pollah on their boots, or keep their pantaloons unsoiled, they should remember that the risk to life and lumb incurred by this practice is of far more importance. Stick to the street. Never mind the mud.

BRUSED BY AN ENGINE CRANK.—A lad named Benjamin Green was severely injured Saturday attercoon, at Ingersoll's saw and turning mill in Fifth street, near Lawis. His hand, through some negligence on his part, was caught under the crask of the engine, and crushed in a fearful manner. A physician was called in, and the hones reset, when he was taken to his residence in Eighth street.

FELL IS THE RIVER.—Mr. Patrick Finney, while under the influence of an over dose of the "ardent," fell into the East river, at the foot of pier 31, on Saturday night. He was taken out of the water, as the as nte police cap-tain informs us in his return at the Chief's office, "very wet." He was sent to Blackwell's Island by Justice Bo-gart for five days. Mr. James Smith was also rescued from drowning by a policeman, on Saturday night, at the foot of pier 16 East river.

Fires in New York.

FIRE IN SULLIVAN STREET.—Shortly after 12 o'clo ck yesterday afternoon, a fire took place in a tenant house, rear of No. 140 Sullivan street, occupied by Thomas rear of No. 140 Sullivan street, occupied by Thomas Tempkins. The attice room of the said premises was occupied by Mr. Tempkins, as a sleeping apartment. A small stove was in this room, in which a fire had been made only a short time before the room was found on fire. Mr. Tempkirs had left the house on some business, and his wife and child were on the next floor below; but when the alaim was given, the fire had so far advanced in the room that they found it impossible to enter to save any of the property, and it was all destroyed. Mr. Tempkins, agent for the owner of the building, was quickly on the spot and procured the firemen's early attention, and the fiames were kept to the room it originated in and the roof immediately over it. The damage done to the building will probably be $123, covered by an insurance of $400, in the United States Insurance Company. The occupant of this room lost all his property, amounting to near $200. No insurance. The fire was evidently caused by the very unsafe manner the stove was located in the room.

AN ATTEMPT OF AN INCRNDIARY DISCOVERED.—On last Priday evening, a desperate attempt was made by an incendiary to fire a tenant house in the rear of No. 52 Suffolk street. The Fire Marshai was notified to investi-Suffolk street. The Fire Marshal was notified to investigate the affair. It seems that, upon examination, two of the tenants testify to finding in the cellar a demijohn a candle had been fastened to the wicker work around it, and then lighted, and over all had been placed an old tin coffee pot, evidently done to prevent the light of the candle discovering itself until it fired the camplene. This demijohn was jut on a stairway leading from the wood cellar to the workshop of Mr. Amos Belden, the owner of the premises. When discovered by the tenants the fire had just extinguished itself, caused by the burning wick of the candle dropping fato its own fat; not before, however, a large space of the wicker work on the bottle had been burnar and the heat in the coffee pot unsoldered the spout of the pot. Strange to say, all this burning took place, and yet the camplene did not take fire. These articles were deposited with Captain Russell, of the Thirteenth ward police, corner of Delancey and Attorney stream price to this attempt. There are two or three person under suspicion; and all good citizens would facilitate the ends of justice by giving all the information within their knowledge in reference to this affair, in order tha the guilty parties may be punished.

It appeared from the testimony taken in the case, that on the day in question, the deceased, on his return from school, went out into the street with his sleigh and commenced amusing himself along with other boys, who, throwing themselves upon him while he was on the sleigh, injured him internally. He came home soon after and complained that he had been severely injured—a physician was called in, but the deceased's bowels being very badly inflamed; he lingered until Friday last, when he died. In this case the jury rendered the following redict—"Death by inflammation of the bowels, produced by injuries accidentally received on the 9th day of February, 1355, while playing on a sleigh."

State Agricultural Fairs.
TO THE RDITOR OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.
In regard to the "secret circular" alluded to by Gen.
Burroughs, of Orleans, at the annual meeting of the State Agricultural Society, as having been received by him from some person at or near Syracuse, the object of which was to secure them a permanent location of the State Fairs in that city, I think I can give you and the public all the information desirable.

"Sam," though suspected of having his nose in this business, was not a party to the transaction. The cir-cular consisted of resolutions adopted by the Wayas-County Agricultural Society, on a subject upon which it had an undoubted right to express an opinion, together with some remarks on the policy and management of with some remarks on the policy and management of the State society, not very palatable to the officer thereof, (Gen. B. being one,) and for which I am solely responsible, and at all times able and ready to justify. The circular was not a private or secret one, but was openly sent by me, as therein directed, to every county agricultural society in Central and Western New York, from many of which replies were received, expressing similar opinions and a promise of co-operation. The re-marks are justified from the fact that every person has an undoubted right to canvass the official acts of public men.

an undoubted right to canwass the official acts of public men.

The citizens of Syracuse had no knowledge of this circular, and I would not have troubled you with it had not Gen. B alluded to it in such a manner as to compromise their honor, and thereby defeat the project of permanently locating the State Fairs in that city.

The following is the paper alluded to, and the same sent by me to Gen. B., and may or may not have been marked "confidential," a matter of no importance in this case, involving the honor of the citizens of Syracuse, which, from aught in the circular, Gen. B. had no reasonable grounds to suspect. Yours, &c.

CIRCULAR.

LYONS, Jan. 12, 1855.

SIR—At the annual meeting of the Wayne County Agricultural Society, held on the 10th instant, the following resolutions were passed unanimously:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this society that the present system of making the fairs of the State Agricultural Society itinerant is highly prejudicial to its prosperity and usefulues.

Resolved, That we carnestly recommend the State Society of permanently locate their fairs at a single point, and that we are of opinion that the city of Syracuse is the most eligible and proper locality.

Resolved, That the President, J. D. Ford, E. N. Thomas, General William II. Adams, and such other persons as the President may designate, be requested to attend the annual meeting of the State Society, as designates, who are herely into the complete of the State Society as designates, who are herely into the presence of the State Society as designates, who are herely into the state of the state in the second of the such action in the premises as shall best comport with the spirit of these resolutions.

In compliance with the above, it becomes my duty to address you, and through you, the agricultural society of your county, on a subject that interests every farmer and mechanic in the State, hoping that an examination of the subject will induce you to give your hearty coperation and support.

I also send you by this mail two copies of the Farming.

and mechanic in the State, hoping that an examinat on of the subject will induce you to give your hearty cooperation and support.

I also send you by this mail two copies of the Farming Mirror, containing articles on this subject to which I invite your careful attention.

Will, you please lay this subject before your county society or its board of managers, at your earliest convenience, and urge such action as will best subserve the purpose in view.

Allow me to suggest that the attendance of five or ten delegates from each county society at the annual meeting of the State Society, to be held at Albany on the second Weduesday in February next, will doubtless secure the permanent location of the State fairs and the State Society from future mismanagement.

I mean to impute nothing censurable in the official conduct of the Acting Secretary, B. P. Johnson, Esq., but the Beard of Managers generally have not, I think, been judiciously selected, and their efforts to beneft and accommodate the farmers and mechanics of the State have not been generally successful. The financial condition of the society seems to indicate incompetency or diahonesty on the part of its managers, and loudly calls for retreechment and reform.

The favor of an early answer, containing your views on the subject, is respectfully solicited. Yours respectfully,

DE WITT C. VAN SLYCK.

A FIREMAN SPEARS A GOOD WORD FOR OLD 42.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

In reading the account published in the Herald of Sunday, Feb 18, of the trial between the steam and hand engines, you do not give the credit to the exempt firemen they deserve. You allowed that they throw water thirty-five feet further than the steam engine. On water thirty-five feet further than the steam engine. On the first trial this is true, and also that on the second trial
they threw a few feet further than the steam engine
did. Here you say that the exempt firemen tired out.
Such, sir, is not the case. You have never yet found a New York fireman to give up to the fiery element, much less to a steam engine. I contend that a New York company of firemen can work 42's eld engine ten hours without stopping, if required, and do more exceution than any steam engine in the city of New York, and not get tired out at that.

On the third trial from the roof of the City Hall you say "the superiority of the steam engine was strikingly manifested, though at times the hand engine shot up a stream as high as its competitor." Such was the case.
But did the steam engine do any more than the hand? I contend that the steam as well as the hand engine, threw over the figure of justice; but the stream of the steam engine was not as steady as that of the hand engine.
There is to much spray from the steam engine plop for execution at fires. The remark about the steam engine not getting tired out is very good indeed. Success to or new fire annihilator. But justice to Old 42 and Exempt Firemen impels me to write this note.

A FIREMAN OF FIFFEN YEARS STANDING.

THE CHEMICAL BANK CASE-RE-ARREST OF KISSANE. At length the trio, Kissane, Cole and Findlay, who, it is alleged, swindled the Chemical Bank out of $13,000, and the Continental out of $6,000, are in the hands of the authorities. Findley and Cole were arrested seen after authorities. Findley and Cole were arrested soon after the commission of the fraud; but Kissane, escaping from the officer, Read, on his way from Cincinnati, has been at large until within the past few days, when he was streated at Willismsville, Eric county, in this State. Upon the receipt of the telegraph giving an account of Kissane's rearrest, the suthorities in this city dispatched Sergeant Hogan, of the reserved corps, to the place in question, for the purpose of conveying him to New York. The officer has not arrived with his charge, but may be looked for hourly. The connection of Kissane, Findley and Cole, with the Martha Washington case, renders the present case a very important one, and particularly to the inhabitants of the Western States. Findley has already pleased guity to an indictment for grand larceny, and has been sentenced to five years confinement in the State prison. He has, however, been detained at the Tombs, to be used as a witness in the present case of forgery sgainst Kissane, and will probably receive for his services a pardon from the Executive.

The Prohibitory Liquor Law in Illinois.

We are enabled to amounce the concurrence of the Heuse, on the 10th inst., in the amendments to the bill or the suppression of intemperance, as it passed the Senate on the 6th inst.

The amendments do not materially affect the stringancy of the bill as it passed the House, and in some particulars it is improved by the amendments. The prominent amendments are as follows:—

If the people reject it, it does not become a law.

Men connected with railread companies, as carriers, &c., are subjected to double penalties for violation of the law.

The proviso in the twenty fifth section is stricken out. Wine and cider may be manufactured from fruits which are the products of this State, and sold in quantities not less than thirty gallons.
